

Understanding through Dialogue

Theatre Aspen

Theatre Aspen's mission is to entertain, enlighten, enrich, educate and challenge the residents and visitors of the Roaring Fork Valley through professional quality theatrical productions, new play development initiatives and a broad spectrum of education programs.

Theatre Aspen's shows are presented in the heart of Rio Grande Park, along the Rio Grande Trail, just next to the river. With daytime views of Aspen Mountain and nights filled with stars, theatre-goers are treated to an experience that combines dynamic professional theatre with the excitement of being outdoors.

Almost, Maine

On a Friday night in deepest winter, the residents of the remote, mythical town of Almost, Maine are falling in and out of love in unexpected, bizarre, and often hilarious ways. As the northern lights hover magically overhead, everyone (even those wearing snowmobile suits), can stumble their way into love -- almost -- in this delightful, hilarious, romantic comedy. A one-night special staging directed by David Ledingham.

Sunday, July 12

- Almost, Maine 7:30pm, Theatre Aspen, $20

Chapter Two

Chapter Two is a semi-autobiographical dramatic comedy that chronicles the story of George (aka Neil Simon), following the death of his beloved wife. He is set up with Jennie (a thinly disguised Marsha Mason, who garnered an Oscar nomination for starring in the film version) who he eventually marries. We follow their romance as they come to terms with a new life following their own separate disappointments. A second couple is more comically rendered by George's younger brother Leo and Jennie's friend Faye.

For ages 12 and up.

Tuesday, July 14

- Chapter Two preview, Theatre Aspen 7:30 pm, $20
